THE LOIRE REGION'S CELLARS INVITE YOU TO TASTE THE PLEASURES OF THEIR WINES

Wine always tastes different if you know the winemakers themselves. A winemaker's background is just as important as artists' lives are to their artwork. These shared experiences and emotions will bring out a different flavour in the wine. It's like nothing you've ever tasted before.”

Jacques Puisais (winemaker).

Under the leadership of the Loire Valley Wine Bureau, InterLoire, in partnership with the tourism and winemaking marketing board¹, 300 wine cellars have committed to a quality approach to receiving visitors in their cellars.

This guide features the estates that signed the hospitality charter. They will be delighted to welcome you and to share their passion for wine and winemaking. Feel free to contact them for more information on their services or to organise special tours. This guide will give you ideas for excursions, a list of wine festivals and major tourist attractions in France's third-leading wine region.

a GREAT FRENCH winemaking region

The light glistening on the river and its tributaries is a wonderful sight. The cellars carved into white limestone, magical châteaux, magnificent gardens, hillsides covered in vines ; hundreds of sights that still hold the memory of kings, queens, princes and artists like Rabelais, Ronsard, Balzac, Leonardo da Vinci, and Joachim du Bellay... The Loire vineyards offer charm, grace and surprise around every corner.

It is a region for good living, a valley of abundance, a source of flavourful wines and generous aromas, and we would like to share all that with you.

exceptional LOIRE VALLEY

To give you a feel for the area, the Loire Valley is France's third-leading region for AOC wines and is on UNESCO's World Heritage List. It spans from the Atlantic to the depths of the Berry region, nestled halfway between the North and the South, smoothness and freshness, arts and literature, tradition and modernity. From these harmonious blends, encouraged by a temperate climate and a mosaic of terroirs, a rich diversity of wines were born.

Are you tempted to find out more?

A GLASS FULL OF GOOD LIVING, SO DEAR TO BALZAC

The history of the Loire and its wines follows the history of France and its nobility.

Apart from the Nantes vines, which were planted by the Romans, winemaking came to the Loire Valley in the 5th century, and was developed over the next thousand years by the crowned heads of France and England. In seeking out quality worthy of royal palates, these winemakers would create highly renowned wines. Vouvray was recognised as an Appellation d'Origine Contrôlée in 1936 during the early days of the INAO (France's national institute for controlling place names), and the wines of Nantes, Anjou, Saumur and Tours soon followed.

The Loire Valley's wines have always been appreciated throughout Europe and have won over some of the most illustrious epicurean, including Rabelais, Balzac and Curnonsky, not to mention today's top cuisine personalities.

These wines were also nourished by their exceptional natural and cultural environment.

Since 2000, the Loire Valley has been on UNESCO's World Heritage List thanks to its lively cultural landscape.

Its wonderful natural landscape follows the 280 km long Royal Loire Valley, the result of two thousand years of history of the local population and its river. This monumental landscape, one of the world's most impressive, boasts royal châteaux (Chinon, Chenonceau, Chambord, Amboise, and many more) and rich vineyards.

All of the Loire's appellations can be proud of the region's cultural and historical heritage.

Sense the region...

A PALATE OF SAVORS, THE PERFECT MATCH FOR THE CUISINE OF TODAY AND TOMORROW

The Loire Valley offers two sources of inestimable wealth: its precious historical heritage and an array of unique wines. This spectrum of colours (white, rosé, red), textures (still, lightly sparkling) and flavours (dry, "tender", demi-sec, "soft", semi-sweet, sweet) makes Loire Valley wines perfect for a variety of food pairings and for any special meal or occasion.

This diversity is sure to please the most eclectic palates and brilliantly match many different dishes.

There is a passion that draws me to the Loire vineyards. First of all, the northern terroirs are particularly demanding with the vines. Since there is less sunlight, the plant has to draw everything it needs to develop from the soil. In Northern latitudes, the terroir comes out even more in the fruit. Also, the Loire has kept its distance from international taste standards, a wonderful idea! In the region, you'll never see any over-ripe or jammy wines, just unrivalled aromatic freshness. These wines emphasize the personality of their terroirs and are truly pleasant to drink - one of the Loire Valley's fundamental values. In the Loire vineyards, a wine's texture and richness, no matter what its colour and style, should take nothing away from the fruit's taste, its maturity and freshness, and its harmony and juiciness.

I believe that Loire Valley wines... are truly gastronomic wines.

Olivier Poussier, world's best sommelier, 2000

They offer infinite pleasure for an unrivaled price! Many Loire wines are ready to drink very young, but the region also produces fine laying down wines.

In a few words, we could describe Loire wines as remarkably fruity, elegant and delightfully fresh. Quite simply, wines that you can't wait to taste!

An invitation to discovery...

TASTES AND COLOURS FOR EVERY PALATE

The rosé wines have more than earned their reputation. Cool, quality wines, with just the right degree of fruitiness prove original with delicate tenderness, which is especially tasty in summer, when epicureans fall under the sun's warming spell.

The local reds, whether ready to drink or for keeping, should be tasted with just the right meal, either young and chilled for the former or mature and at room temperature for the latter.

The whites, available in an infinite variety of dry, semi-sweet, or sweet wines, are perfect for any shared moment. They have earned a place in some of France's top restaurants.

The Sparkling wines, another hallmark of the Loire winemaking region, are prepared according to traditional methods in Saumur and Tours cellars since the 19th century. They make a bubbly addition for all occasions.

The Loire Region's 68 appellations are sure to please highly demanding connoisseurs and tickle the taste buds of new wine lovers. The Loire is also home to Loire Valley Vins de Pays, which come from the region between the Atlantic Atlantic and the peaks of Auvergne.

Are you tempted to find out more?

KEY FIGURES

- ▶ 68 AOC (Appellations d'Origine Contrôlées)
- ▶ leading producer of white wine
- ▶ leading region for AOC sparkling wines (outside Champagne)
- ▶ leading regional denomination of "Vins de Pays": "Vins de Pays du Val de Loire"
- ▶ 3rd leading French region for AOC wines
- ▶ 7,000 winemakers, cooperative cellars and wine merchants

A SUBTLE HARMONY BORN OF THE TERROIR AND THE HUMAN "KNOW HOW"

Loire Valley wine lovers immediately take note of the unique tone behind the region's broad range of appellations. This diversity goes back to the vineyards' variety of soils (shale, limestone and sand), reliefs and exposures.

The mark of a river. The Loire and its many tributaries play a major role in tempering these wines by encouraging several microclimates that favour winemaking and contribute to oenological diversity. Its "buffer effect" is vital to making sweet and semi-sweet wines.

Heirs to the past. The Loire winemakers are faithful to the practices of their ancestors, which they have combined with new methods inspired by talented technicians and winemakers. However, they introduced these innovations artfully and carefully over time.

The Loire Valley's winemakers did not want to give into the trend for "blockbuster" wines, a wise decision that has won the respect of wine professionals and consumers alike.

A single varietal. Another original aspect of Loire wines is that most are made from a single varietal: Melon de Bourgogne in the Nantes region, Chenin, Cabernet and Gamay in Anjou, Saumur and Touraine, Sauvignon and Pinot noir around Tours.

This array of varietals unrivaled the world over has yielded a range of wines that are both unique and diverse.

This wealth of wine invites demanding epicureans to discover the region's great terroirs and to taste how natural factors have influenced the wines' structure and aroma.

Taste the harmony...

a RICH JOURNEY, INVITING YOU TO DISCOVER THE LOIRE VALLEY FROM THE INSIDE

A trip on the Wine Route is one of the best ways to savor and discover this great winemaking region.

If Colette was right in saying that “only the vine reveals to us what is the real taste of the earth,” the Wine Route sings of the richness of its heritage and the flavour of its terroir all along its course.

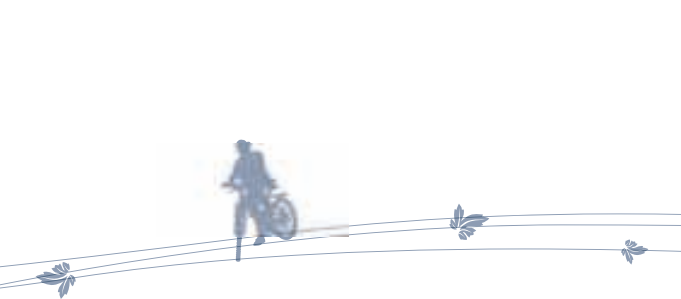

800 kilometres of exceptional heritage: famous landscapes were shaped by the meandering Loire and its tributaries, molded by human strength and spirit, from the Atlantic to the hillsides of Anjou and Saumur and the valleys of Tours.

The châteaux of Tours and the country mansions of Anjou inspired scores of writers and philosophers such as Rabelais, Balzac, Leonardo da Vinci, Descartes, Ronsard and Victor Hugo.

Its troglodyte cellars were carved in limestone, forming vast underground quarries perfect for aging and storing wine. Its extraordinary gardens are nourished by the region's rich climate and soil to produce beautiful botanical harmonies.

By car along the wine route, by bicycle or on foot along the vineyard paths, on a barge down the Loire, or celebrating in a Bacchic festival, discover France's third-leading winemaking region as you see fit.

The winemaker who welcomes you will make sure that your visit to the region is eye-opening and unforgettable. He will take the time to explain this rich terroir that yields wines enjoyed the world over. By pouring you a glass of concentrated landscape and know how, the winemaker perpetuates a centuries-old French tradition.

A glass of authenticity...

Between THE ATLANTIC and CHAMPTOCEAUX

Located where the Loire meets the Atlantic in a cradle of wandering nature, the Nantes vineyard enjoys the benefits of the open sea and offers an appealing array of seasonal variations. This land boasts winemaking estates and a rich historical heritage, a delight for the eyes and the palate.

Take a sip of Muscadet, whose only varietal, Melon de Bourgogne, can yield surprisingly varied wines depending on the soil it is planted in. This varietal left its native Burgundy in the early 17th century, travelling down the Loire to take root around Nantes. Since that day, Nantes has featured the largest single-varietal white wine vineyard in Europe.

It is divided into four appellations, the world-renowned Muscadet and three regional appellations: Sèvre et Maine, Coteaux de la Loire and Côtes de Grandlieu.

ENTERTAINMENT AND EVENTS

- Muscadet Sur Ville in Nantes (April)
- Randos Bottereaux hiking in Le Loroux Bottereau (July-August)
- Jazz Sur Lie in Le Pallet (last weekend in August)
- Les Rendez-vous de l'Erdre in Nantes (1st weekend in September)
- Vignes, Vins et Randos (1st Sunday in September)
- Le Nouvel An du Muscadet in Clisson (1st Sunday in December)

There are inspiring landscapes to be found on either bank of the Loire. Take the time to discover the rolling countryside covered in vines as far as the eye can see, dotted with châteaux, manors and windmills... Stop to taste Nantes's other appellations, Coteaux d'Ancenis, Fiefs Vendéens (red, rosé and white) and Gros Plant du Pays Nantais, a dry white wine with a taste of the sea.

DID YOU KNOW?

“Vinification “on the lees” is a technique that dates back to the turn of the last century. In those days, Nantes winemakers practiced the custom of saving the harvest's best barrel until spring, for special family occasions. This “wedding barrel” wine was aged all winter on its lees, which gave it a unique character.”

Between CHAMPTOCEAUX and SAUMUR

This, more than anywhere else, is where the Loire, Europe's last wild river, is most beautiful. Here, its majestic, peaceful riverbed receives the waters of the Layon and the Aubance, two rivers that gave their names to famous Anjou wines.

With its 29 Appellations d'Origine Contrôlée (AOC), the Anjou-Saumur vineyards offer the Loire Valley's most diverse spectrum of wines, in terms of both colour and flavour, including sweet and dry whites, sweet and dry rosés, reds, and sparkling wines.

The Wine Route covers approximately 200 kilometers between Ingrandes-sur-Loire and Montsoreau across an area with vines as far as the eye can see.

The region's quintessential varietals are grown on hillsides and plains along the Loire and its tributaries, where they are nurtured by local microclimates.

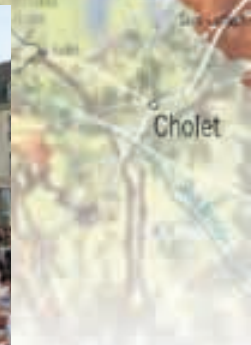

Two main varietals dominate the area, chenin blanc and cabernet franc

ENTERTAINMENT AND EVENTS

- Anjou Wine Festival in Chalonnes-sur-Loire (late February)
- La Fête du Goût et du Patrimoine in Savennières (mid-May)
 - La Ronde des Coteaux du Layon (early July)
 - La Grande Tablée du Saumur Champigny (early August)
 - Vignes, Vins et Randos (1st Sunday in September)
- Les Vendanges Festives in Martigné-Briand (early October)

Grande Tablée du Saumur Champigny

Word of mouth. Open the doors of these estates and listen to the winemakers tell you about their heavenly sweet Layons, great mineral whites, fruity reds from Anjou and Saumur, elegant sparkling Loire wines, and their tender rosés. Savennières, Coteaux de l'Aubance, Quarts de Chaume, Bonnezeaux, Crémant de Loire, Saumur Brut, Saumur Champigny, Rosé and Cabernet d'Anjou... all these names evoke Anjou's famous nectars*. They will tell the story of the region's limestone troglodyte cellars, its cellar mills, its vineyards and wineries, and its châteaux, country mansions, and monasteries... You will quickly understand that here, human history and winemaking history have always gone hand in hand.

All year long, this region is home to major winemaking festivals, events at the estates and hikes and trips...contact the tourism offices for more information*.

DID YOU KNOW?

“The region's vineyards date back to the 1st century AD. In the Middle Ages, winemaking flourished under the monastic system, which owned all the region's vineyards. In the 12th century, Henry II of England served Anjou wine in his court. The good King René boasted that "Of all the wines in my cellar, from Anjou, Lorraine, and Provence, the former is the best". ”

Between SAUMUR and CHENONCEAUX

In Montsoreau, right near Saumur, you are free to choose between... North and South. Let's start with the North. This area is home to the Bourgueil and the St-Nicolas-de-Bourgueil appellations, between the "gravelly wines" from the banks of the Loire and the "limestone wines" from the hillsides.

If you continue further south, you will be met with a magnificent landscape, the confluence of the Vienne at Candes-Saint-Martin. This is where the Chinon vineyard begins, in Rabelais's home country. The Cabernet franc varietal, which is locally known as "breton", flourishes in these limestone terroirs to yield full-bodied laying down wines, with light, fruity, aromatic qualities in the gravelly terroirs. The area's few rosé and white wines are worth a taste. Continue your trip towards the Indre valley, country of windmills and manors, and its basketry centre (Villaines-les-Rochers). The crowning jewel of this valley is the Château d'Azay-le-Rideau.

ENTERTAINMENT AND EVENTS

- ✦ Vitiloire, wine festival in Tours (mid-May)
- ✦ "Chinon fête le vin" wine festival (May)
- ✦ Les Balzaciennes in Azay-le-Rideau (early July)
- ✦ Promenade gourmande" food and drink festival in Limeray (mid-July)
- ✦ Vignes, Vins et Randos (1st Sunday in September)
- ✦ Touraine Primeur (3rd Thursday in November)

This vineyard bears the name Touraine-Azay-le-Rideau. After meeting winemakers from Touraine Noble-Joué just outside Tours, you will catch a glimpse of the Montlouis-sur-Loire and Vouvray appellations on the hillsides on either side of the Loire. Taste these great Loire wines (from the chenin grape) in the wineries carved into the stone. As you travel back along the route to the east, towards Amboise, between peaceful valleys and plateaus, you can tickle your taste buds with Touraine Amboise. Near here, you will feast your eyes on some of France's greatest historical sites, the royal château of Amboise, the Clos Lucé and, further south, on the outskirts of Touraine, the famous Château de Chenonceau.

The LOIR VALLEY

The Loir is a tranquil river that gently rolls from the edge of the Beauce region south of Chartres to Angers. Its environment features typical Touraine characteristics: limestone, slate and troglodyte dwellings.

The Loir valley vineyard is the northernmost of the Loire valley and offers a unique local varietal, pineau d'Aunis, which is used to make red and rosé wines with highly sophisticated, slightly peppery flavours. This region is best-known for its white wines made from a single varietal, Chenin blanc, which is at its best in wines from Jasnières and Coteaux du Loir.

To the west of Vendôme lies the Coteaux du Vendômois appellation. From Thoré-la-Rochette and Lavardin to Montoire-sur-le-Loir and Trôo, travel through these small towns and villages and visit their troglodyte cellars.

ENTERTAINMENT AND EVENTS

- “Le Week-end des Jardiniers” gardening event (1st week-end in June): botanical festival at the Château du Lude
- “La Foire à la Bouture” at the Manoir de la Possonnière in Couture-sur-Loir (October)
 - Pineau d'Aunis festival (early August)
- The “Folklores du Monde” festival in Montoire-sur-le-Loir (mid-August)
 - Vignes, Vins et Randos (1st Sunday in September)

After the château town of Poncé-sur-le-Loir and Ruillé-sur-Loir, admire the vines of Jasnières on the steep, south-facing hillsides. This exclusive appellation is limited to approximately forty hectares. The Musée de la Vigne de L'homme will reveal all the secrets of these rare wines. Finally, you will happen upon the deep valley pastures and the vines of the Coteaux du Loir appellation. Across the Loir in Marçon, visit a cellar or tour a wine estate.

V vendôme TOURISM OFFICE

Between CHENONCEAUX and ST-AIGNAN

After Amboise, travel along the Cisse, which runs parallel to the Loire, and enter into the Touraine-Mesland wine region. Visit the striking Château de Chaumont and enjoy its famous "Festival des Jardins". After the Château de Cheverny, which gave its name to the prestigious appellation, and the Château de Chambord, the largest of the Loire châteaux, you will leave the Loire valley and its slate-roofed buildings for the Sologne wine region.

Here, vineyards intermingle with fruit orchards. The houses' roofs are covered in tile and the vineyards face the south.

Continue in this direction towards the winemaking plateau of Oisly. Here, the Touraine appellation produces lovely aromatic wines made using gamay and sauvignon grapes.

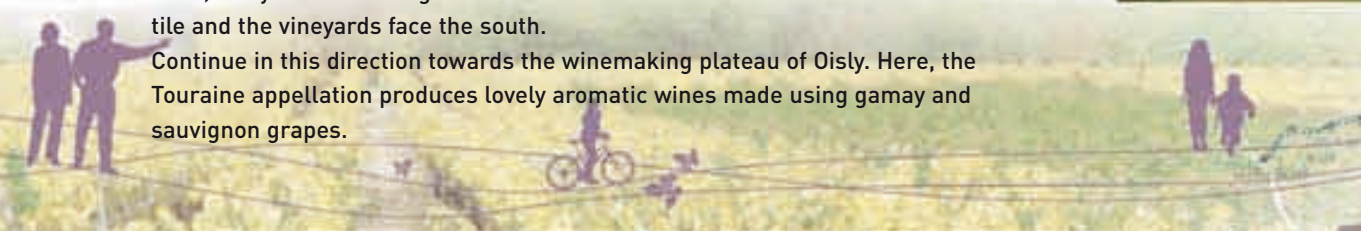

ENTERTAINMENT AND EVENTS

- ✦ Une soirée dans les vignes (mid-July to mid-August)
- ✦ Les Journées Gastronomiques de Sologne in Romorantin Lanthenay (end of October)
 - ✦ Vignes, Vins et Randos (1st Sunday in September)
- ✦ Les rendez-vous du Touraine Primeur in Montrichard (3rd Thursday in November)

You will finally reach the Cher Valley and its winemaking villages: Noyers-sur-Cher, Saint-Aignan, and Mareuil-sur-Cher whose spicy, fruity, easy-to-drink gamay has made them famous. This area is also sometimes associated with côtel or cabernet franc and produces more full-bodied wines. Before continuing your journey down the Cher, stop over in the town of Valençay, whose own cheese and wine will give your taste buds an idea of the town's talent.

Take a country road through the winemaking plateaus, between wine houses and valleys, towards Montrichard. Behold the proud castle keep that overlooks the Cher before visiting the magnificent Château de Chenonceau.

“Valençay’s pyramid-shaped goat cheese was the first to be recognised with an Appellation d’Origine Contrôlée. In 2004, its wines received this prestigious label, making Valençay the only French town with two AOCs, its cheese and its wine.”

TRIPS AND TRAILS

✦ Drive through Sologne’s winemaking areas to the Cher Valley: from Saint-Aignan take the Wine Route to the Beauval zoo, then continue through winemaking plateaux and hillsides to Bourré and Montrichard. End your trip with a visit to the Château de Chenonceau.

✦ Take a walk on the “Vignes, Vins et Randos” path: Leaving from above the Cher Valley in Pouillé, hike around Premolière, Le Chêne Gauthier, and La Tesnière.

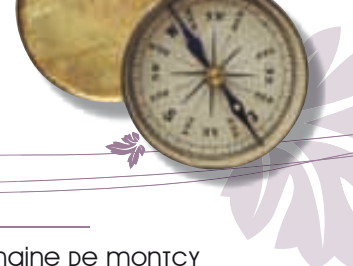

✦ Follow the bicycle trails along historic riverbanks and wine routes. Leaving from Chenonceaux, take the trail near the Cher towards Montrichard and admire the locks on your way to Saint-Aignan. FOLLOW THE GUIDE !

DIFFERENT TYPES OF CONTAINERS: SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE.

Most of the time, winemakers bottle their own wine, which guarantees an excellent level of quality and sanitation.

Less and less wine is sold in plastic containers or barrels, since these containers mean that consumers have to bottle the wine themselves. Bottling your own wine does call for some skill and organisation, but it can be a good excuse for a fun afternoon with friends.

Bag-in-Box® (BIB) containers have become very popular because they are so simple: the wine is kept in a vacuum-sealed aluminium bag, which is protected by a cardboard box. As the wine is emptied from the container, the aluminium bag shrinks, keeping the wine from coming into contact with air. Once a BIB is opened, the wine can be kept for several weeks, making it a convenient solution for daily wine consumption.

➤ You can decide which type of container best suits your lifestyle.

WINE LABELS: TRUE COLLECTOR'S ITEMS!

Wine labels decorate the front and back of the bottle and sometimes feature sophisticated, imaginative designs. Labels provide the only way of identifying a bottle's contents. The information on these labels is subject to very strict regulations, for the consumer's benefit.

➤ Study these labels carefully and add them to your collection.

TRANSPORTING WINE: PRACTICE GOOD HABITS

Today, wine is very stable and can withstand most transport. However, you should keep wine out of extremely high or low temperatures, being especially careful not to leave it too long in your car. And be patient. Once you get back home, you should let your wine sit for a few days.

➤ You enjoy it to get the full experience of its flavour.

an INTRODUCTION TO WINE TASTING

a little lesson in wine tasting

➤ Lesson no. 1: the colour

To start off, place your glass on the table to study the wine's colour:

- actual hue: the tint of white wines can range from very pale yellow to golden, amber colours. Rosés vary from grey to orangish pink. Red wine's have a broad spectrum, ranging from violet to ruby red to orange.
- intensity: pale, solid or deep.
- brilliance: bright, clear or dull. Clarity: crystalline, transparent, cloudy... with or without deposit.

Then, pick up your glass by its base and tilt it gently towards the light to observe the nuances of its colour. Swirl the wine around the glass gently to observe its "legs" or "tears" that will give you an idea of the wine's consistency: is it thick and concentrated or light and fluid?

"Colour is the face of wine. It tells you all about its age and its character."

“Wine, according to Paul Claudel, involves three relationships: the relationship with the land from which it originates, the relationship with how you feel when you taste it, the relationship with others when you discuss it... Hence wine tasting is a lesson in awareness of others and freedom: you learn to respect the opinions of others and to defend your own point of view, increasing the pleasure of tasting everyday.”

➤ Lesson no. 2: the nose

First, don't forget that your sense of smell is essential to your sense of taste. Put your glass under your nose. Inhale the aromas of the wine and breath in, get a little air and start over again. You will sense subtle, powerful, fresh and pleasant fragrances... unless the cork has been unkind to the wine.

First, don't forget that your sense of smell is essential to your sense of taste. Put your glass under your nose. Sniff the wine, breath in, get a little air and start over again. You will sense subtle, powerful, fresh and pleasant fragrances...unless the cork has been unkind to the wine.

Now it is time to taste the wine!

But remember, "The nose is an advanced fortress that protects your mouth from unpleasant surprises."

✦ Lesson no. 3: taste the flavour

In gulping down your wine, you miss out on the joy of seeing, smelling and tasting it. What could be more pleasant than enjoying every drop of your glass?

Slender or full-bodied, smooth or heady, heavy or light, strong or slightly sparkling... Roll the wine around on your tongue, move it around your mouth and focus carefully to get the full experience of your wine.

Once you have swallowed or spit out your wine, keep tasting. Does the wine have a long finish, meaning its flavours and aromas unfold slowly, or a short finish, meaning they are fleeting?

Even if you don't have much experience, the world of wine is within your reach. You can describe the spectrum of aromas you sense between your nose and the back of your throat and tell whether the tannins are soft, silky or supple and speak about how much you like the wine.

"Taste cannot be told, only tasted."
